WHAT YOU CAN BOOK

Working In Education

Drawing on more than a decade leading award-winning choirs and teaching at conservatoire level, Craig brings that energy into schools, colleges and universities across the country.

INCLUSIVE PRACTICE

Craig has extensive experience designing and delivering inclusive music workshops that engage and support young people with SEND and SEMH needs.

■ Schools

Where singing is fun and learning happens along the way.

Vocal workshops, singing assemblies and performance projects that help primary and secondary pupils learn, grow and love to sing.

■ Workshops, festivals & singing days

Big rooms, big energy, one shared voice.

Large-scale singing days that give young people the thrill of singing as one, energising workshops for festivals and events, and adjudication at competitions and festivals.

■ Colleges & universities

Raising the bar for the artists of tomorrow.

Masterclasses and guest workshops with music students, focused on contemporary vocal technique, style, musicianship and stagecraft, at a level that stretches and inspires.

■ CPD & teacher training

Practical training you can use the next day.

Practical CPD that gives teachers the skills and resources to lead singing with confidence, with interactive, hands-on sessions built around ideas you can use in class the very next day.

“It wasn’t just the quality of the performance that impressed me, it was the way Craig worked with the students, and his ability to understand their needs and their excitement, and then harness it for the performance.”
